Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1 and 2, drawn to a spring, classified in class 267, subclass 71.
- II. Claim 3-9, drawn to a bicycle pump having means for preventing the pump from sliding down a hollow shaft, classified in class 92, subclass 145.
- III. Claim 10-23, drawn to a bicycle pump, classified in class 92, subclass 58.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed since claims 5-7 are evidence claims of such. The subcombination has separate utility such as a spring to bias a piston in one direction (i.e. springs have many well known purposes).

Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as a spring to bias a piston in one direction (i.e. springs have many well known purposes), and claim 13 is evidence of having separate utility (i.e. having a different species to prevent sliding down a support post). See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Invention II is unrelated to invention III. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the bicycle pump of invention II can not be used with invention I, since the bicycle pump of invention II is conventional, and the bicycle pump of invention III is presumed to not be conventional.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Invention II contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: species I as the means for preventing the pump from sliding down a hollow shaft, is shown in fig 2A; species II is means for preventing the pump from sliding down a hollow shaft, as shown in fig 2B; species III is means for preventing the pump from sliding down a hollow shaft, as shown in fig 5; species IV is means for preventing the pump from sliding down a hollow shaft, as shown in fig 7A; and species V is means for preventing the pump from sliding down a hollow shaft, as shown in fig 9D.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121, if invention II is elected, above, to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 3, 8 and 9 are generic to the species of invention II; and claim 4 is generic to the species I, II, III and V.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Art Unit: 3745

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
